B. Landlord to complete

1 Landlord's response to the pet request

You can only refuse a pet for certain reasons listed in this section. More information is provided at the end of this form.

You or your agent should discuss the request with the tenant/s before making your decision.

You must respond to the tenant's request within 21 days by completing and giving them this form. The 21-day period begins the day after the application is given to you or your agent.

If no response is provided after 21 days, the request is approved without conditions.

Note: You can approve some animals but not others (for example, approve two dogs, refuse one dog).

I consent to the following animal/s being kept at the rental property: (Please list each animal. Any conditions for the pet/s must be included in section B2)

I do not consent to the following animal/s being kept at the rental property: (Please list each animal. The reasons for refusal must be provided in section B3)

2 Conditions for approval – if applicable

The landlord cannot set unreasonable conditions, such as (but not limited to):

- Increasing the rent or the bond, or
- Requiring another type of financial security (for example, insurance).

Conditions should be discussed with the tenant/s before making a decision.

I have discussed the conditions with the tenant/s.

Are there any conditions of consent?: Yes No

If yes, please tick the conditions that apply

The carpets must be professionally cleaned at the end of the tenancy (clause 57 of standard form agreement).

Note: This can only be a condition if the animal will live indoors, and the condition is appropriate for the type of animal and the rental property (for example, keeping a goldfish should not require the tenant to commit to carpet cleaning).

The premises must be professionally fumigated at the end of the tenancy (clause 58 of standard form agreement). Note: This can only be a condition if the animal will live indoors and is a mammal.

The animal is not allowed to be indoors (clause 59 of standard form agreement). Note: This can only be a condition if the animal is a type not usually kept indoors (for example, chickens, goats or other livestock animals).

Other reasonable condition/s. These conditions must only relate to the tenant keeping the animal at the property. You must include any additional conditions in an attachment, which:

- clearly explains what the condition is.
- clearly labels which animal/s the condition applies to.

3 Reasons for refusal – if applicable

You can only refuse the request for the pet if at least one of the reasons below is applicable.

The below reasons only apply in specific circumstances. You must read the 'More information' section on page 7 of this form before completing your response.

I have read the 'More information' section.

You can also visit the Keeping a pet in a rental property webpage for further guidance.

Reason/s for refusal:

Unreasonable number of animals: Keeping the pet would lead to an unreasonable number of animals at the property.

Fencing: The fencing at the property is not appropriate for the pet.

Open space: The property is not suitable because there is not enough open space.

Welfare: The pet could not be kept at the property humanely.

Damage: It is highly probable the pet will cause damage exceeding the bond.

Other laws: It is against another Act or law (such as local council orders), or strata/community by-laws or rules, to keep the pet in the rental property.

The landlord lives at the rental property.

The tenant did not agree to a reasonable condition for keeping the pet.

If the refusal applies to multiple animals, please explain which reasons apply, and how they apply for each animal:

4 General consent – Optional

If the landlord is satisfied with the type of animal/s and number of animals given consent in this form, they can provide an ongoing general consent to have up to the approved amount of this type of animal at the rented property.

I give consent for the tenant to replace an existing approved animal with one of the same type, without re-applying.

More information

Factors that must be considered when refusing consent

Unreasonable number of animals

- This reason can only be used if there will be more than four animals at the property, and the total number of animals would be unreasonable.
- If there are four or less animals, the landlord still can use other reasons that apply. For example, see 'Other laws' below if the number of animals is different to what is allowed by the local council.

Fencing

- Fencing can't be used for refusal if:
 - the landlord has not kept the fencing in a reasonable state of repair, or
 - the tenant will keep the animal within an enclosure (for example, a hutch, cage or fish tank), or
 - the tenant will keep the animal indoors, and it will be under the physical control of a person if taken outside.

Open space

- Open space includes areas of the common property that the tenant and pet are entitled to access (for example, a garden area).
- There is not enough open space if the animal cannot:
 - defecate and urinate outside unless they can reasonably do so indoors (for example, in a litter box or tank) or off the rental property, or
 - be kept outside, unless the animal can be reasonably be kept indoors, or
 - receive adequate exercise unless the animal can reasonably exercise indoors or off the rental property.
- The open space reason does not apply to animals that are kept within an enclosure, provided there is enough space for the enclosure.

Other laws

- Local councils can set limits on the number of animals allowed in a property (for example, no more than two dogs). If the tenant asks for more animals than allowed by the local council, the landlord can refuse using this reason. This applies even if the number is less than four animals.
- Strata by-laws that ban all pets are not valid in NSW and cannot be used to refuse a pet.
